30 easy steps to perfect winter skin

WILL I REMAIN SCARRED FOR LIFE?

I have a lot of scarring on my cheeks from acne in my teens and I still suffer from it. I am now in my late 20s and am desperate to have a clear complexion.

Can you recommend any products?

Acne scars occur when spots become inflamed or don't heal properly. Before you deal with old scars, make sure your current acne is fully cured. You can speed up the recovery by using the Dayenne Face Mask, £19.99 (020 8904 1603), which contains brewer's yeast cells that work to regulate the oily levels on the skin, without causing dryness. Regular use will leave the skin highly rejuvenated by encouraging natural cell renewal. Its ingredients also work to cleanse the deeper layers of the skin and removing all impurities, leading to a brighter, healthier complexion. Dayenne founder, Raj Bhachu claims: 'The mask works to promote the development of younger skin, which will eventually heal your acne scars.' For more severe scarring visit your doctor or a dermatologist, who may recommend a strong over-the-counter cream or a series of chemical peel treatments. With whatever you try, it helps to be patient as these products usually take three-four weeks to show results.
